

Graduate scholarships at LSE

Scholarships are available for students from Slovenia starting a postgraduate programme at LSE in 2010

The Scholarships

£2 million is available annually for taught master's students from the Graduate Support Scheme (GSS). This scheme is designed to help students who do not have the necessary funds to meet all their costs of study and awards range from £3,000 to £10,000.

One Francesca Swirski scholarship is available worth £10,000. Applications must be received at the School by the end of April 2010.

Two Central European MSc scholarships of £12,500 are available to students on one year taught master's courses in any subject. Applications must be received at the School by the end of April 2010.

All MRes/MPhil/PhD students are eligible to apply for the LSE Research Studentship Scheme. The level of assistance given is determined by each academic department and is most usually a contribution towards fees. Applications must be received at the School by 11 June 2010.

The School also offers a wide range of Programme Related and LSE Named Awards for taught master's and research students. Award values vary.
