

ditact_women's IT summerstudies 2013

26.08.2013 – 07.09.2013

“be part of it” is the slogan of the summer university “ditact_women's IT summer studies” organized by the ICT&S Center, University of Salzburg, which takes place in Salzburg from August 26th to September 7th . About 40 courses and workshops offer an insight into informatics, considering the latest trends and developments in the IT-sector, as well as career-training and project management.

The “ditact_women's IT studies” is a summer school for women by women and aims at encouraging women to enter the field of engineering and to increase the proportion of women doing IT research. The programme consists of lectures, courses and workshops focusing on IT-Management, IT-Basics and Specialisation and IT-Applications. In addition we offer module (e.g. HCI- and Web-module), consisting of several courses at a special price (EUR 25,00 – 50,00 for individual classes, EUR 120,00 for a one week module) and a series of lectures focusing on career-training, risk-management or Social Media.

The courses take place at the University of Salzburg and the University of Applied Science in Salzburg (Urstein) as well as at the ICT&S Center, one of the most prestigious HCI research centers in central Europe!

Female students from all fields of study, women working in the IT sector or women re-entering the job/IT world will find an ideal networking platform and meet students, scientists and professionals!

This year we will hold English lectures as well, so please visit <http://ditact.ac.at/event/ditact-2013/course> for further information.
